

This is how we work against racism:

1. We know what racism and discrimination are.

When we know what racism and discrimination are, we can address them. We know the ways in which racism and discrimination affect people's lives.

2. We recognise and change our own prejudices.

Everyone has prejudices against other people. When we recognise our own prejudices, we can get rid of them. We want to get to know new people without prejudice and make new friends.

3. We intervene with racism, discrimination and bullying.

In our group, everyone is equal. We address racist behaviour and speech, discrimination and bullying. We resolve these situations together with an adult.

4. We include everyone!

When we are kind to each other and do not leave anyone out, we are all comfortable in the group. In this way, even difficult issues can be discussed and it is easier to find a solution to difficult situations.

5. We perform small and big actions to promote equality.

The promotion of equality is everyone's responsibility. Together, we can make our group more equal to all.

This is how we work against racism:

1. We know what racism and discrimination are.

When we know what racism and discrimination are, we can address them. We know the ways in which racism and discrimination affect people's lives.

2. We recognise and change our own prejudices.

Everyone has prejudices against other people. When we recognise our own prejudices, we can get rid of them. We want to get to know new people without prejudice and make new friends.

3. We intervene with racism, discrimination and bullying.

In our group, everyone is equal. We address racist behaviour and speech, discrimination and bullying. We resolve these situations together with an adult.

4. We include everyone!

When we are kind to each other and do not leave anyone out, we are all comfortable in the group. In this way, even difficult issues can be discussed and it is easier to find a solution to difficult situations.

5. We perform small and big actions to promote equality.

The promotion of equality is everyone's responsibility. Together, we can make our group more equal to all.

SIGNATURES:

